Chief Facility Operator's report

Bunker Hill Circle is going to need some money set aside to figure out how to fix. The problem was traced to a buried manhole that has root infiltration in the sewage line.

At the wastewater plant they have replaced the UV lamps and sleeves. 3 of the sleeves were broken from the vendor so Greg is going back to get replacements. Tristan will be taking another test sample to be sure we are back in compliance.

Emergency generator at the reservoir has not been working for a while. That has been corrected with a used controller board. Greg is checking on why a new board was not used.

The new owners of the Heart Break are looking at replacing their waterline. Greg is getting some pricing for what it would cost to replace the old system main in that area, which is as old as the Barre Hill line.

The trash-rack is working at this time, but some parts for this are in France at the moment.

There is now an alarm that will sound if the UV lamp system is not working.
